EACH ONE TEACH ONE: 6

There has been a lot of talk about Pope Francis' suggestion that the Our Father's petition "lead us not into temptation" be changed. The reason given for this proposal is that God never leads us into temptation, that is, tempts us to sin. Satan tempts us to sin, but God does not. In this light, the pope states that he prefers the French and Spanish translations not "to let us fall into temptation." Recently, the Italian Bishops Conference voted to change the Our Father to "do not abandon us to temptation." But Jesus has a much deeper theological point to make. A proper understanding of this petition is found in Jesus' own life. "Lead us not into temptation," cannot be understood apart from "deliver us from evil." Together they form one complete petition. When we pray "lead us not into temptation," we are asking the Father to free us from temptation and petitioning Him to deliver us from the evil. Moreover, we make this petition believing that, even if evil does befall us in this world, we are assured that the reward of doing the Father's will leads, as in the case of Jesus, to our glory, rejected by this sinful world and the eternal glory that Jesus will bestow upon us at the end of time.

THANK YOU

The Centretown Emergency Food Centre wrote to thank the parishioners of St. Theresa Parish for their very generous donations. "We are most grateful!...The food donations you bring to us on a monthly basis, and your annual support, help ensure that we can provide the best possible service. The food we receive helps keep our shelves stocked and we use the money to buy perishable supplies such as meat, fresh fruit and vegetables...and any of the essential items that we are lacking. Thank you again for helping us to serve the needy in our community with generosity and respect."
